NEW YORK, Sept. 17, 1851. To the Editor of the Herald :- At the suggestion of Mr Ritchie, of Virginia, whose letter has been laid before the public, although surreptitionsly-obtained, but as it has been published, the call for the Democratic National Convention nust now be issued. You will confer a great favor upon the National Democracy by publishing the enclosed call, as we have no paper in this city to give it general circulation.—
All the delegates who have been elected to the National Convention, thus far, by conventions in New Hampshire Massachusetts and Wisconsin, are, I assure you, utterly informal, and they can never take their seats. The men who have thus far early chosen delegates to Baltimore, have done so without the least authority from the central organization of the Democratic party. Every one knows that the Democracy of these States could not move in the choice of delegates, before the regularly authorized call was issued. As we have now heard from every State in the Union, as to the suitable time and place for the Convention, knowing as we do the extensive circulation the Herald has throughout the country, we are desirous of having this call appear in your columns. Respectfully yours, JAMES SANBORN.

Democratic National Convention.

The Democracy of the several States of the Union are hereby requested to choose their quota of delegates to the Demperatic National Convention, to meet at Baltimore on the firs Monday in June, 1852, to nominate candidates for President and Vice President of the United States, for the support of the Democratic Republican electors. Representation hould be in accordance with the new Congressional basis, the events to which they refer. (with the addition of two Senatorial delegates). Missouri-F. P. Blair, Jr., Kentucky-J. C. Some talk has been created by the Donaldson and Greer correspondence, which appeared recently in · the New York Herald, consisting of letters from many prominent politicians, addressed in reply to other letters, said to have been written by two persons called Donaldson and Greer. Certain men, in the opposition or Whig ranks, have taken occasion to hold the Democratic party responsible for letters written by Abolitionists and others, to these persons, who, if they ever had an existence, never had any authority to speak for the Democratic party. So absurd has this attempt been proved to be, that it has been pretty generally abandoned. From the above. we see that a new movement has been started in N. York, calling a Democratic National Convention, and this time, another nom de guerre is employed, doubtless equally apocryphal with Donaldson and Greer. We copy it from the New York Herald of Thursday, only to expose it as a most unauthorized trick. Mr. Ritchie, of the Richmond Enquirer, never authorized its publication, for the object evidently meant to be accomplished, is one that he would indignantly revolt from. That excellent gentleman will no doubt expose the whole affair, when it comes to his knowledge. The design of the secret agents in New York, is to create the impression that the next National Democratic Convention has been called by Democrats and Abolitionists combined! To this end, they use, without the slightest authority, the names of certain 120 nbers of the National Democratic Executive Committee appointed in 1848, of which the writer of this is a member. Some names are or Free Soil leaders! The object is plain. It is to create the impression that there is a union in the Democracy between conflicting and hostile forces, and this is to be asserted and urged by all the Whig speakers and papers in the country. "This additional act of cruelty does not augur any good for the unfortunate captives, nor will it tend to quell the indignation and excitement of our own citizens. If it is the intention of Spain to spare them from death, or to save them from a more ignominious end, working in the chain-gang of Madrid, associated with the vilest felons with which that nation abounds, then they might have been retained in Cuba until their fate was known, and been permitted to meet it there, as did their fifty companions, who were put to death without the form of a trial. But if, as is not unlikely the case, the authorities of the Crown in Cuba believed that these one hundred and sixty American victims to the conspiracy and treachery of Concha and his abettors, could be better tortured in Madrid than in Cu ba, without subjecting Spain to the resentment, or exposure to resentment, that would otherwise spring up, if their cruelties where intelligence thereof could not be as readily obtained as at Cuba, they will find in the end that they have been deceived; and instead of prolonging the day of retribution, Cuba has but quickened it, in the course her authorities have seen fit to take with the American prisoners, whose lives have only

There has been a good deal of curiosity to see the manifesto of M. Xavier A. Isturiz, the Spanish Ambut its enforcement was considered and invoked as the bassador in London, relative to the expedition to Cuba, and although the narrative portion of it contains no new facts, yet, from the general desire to see the opin. turers. The vigorous and remarkable articles publishdocument before our readers :

From the London Times of Sept. 9th, 1851. THE SPANISH ACCOUNT OF THE INVASION OF CURA. We have been favored by the Spanish Minister with the following description of the late events in Cuba: "The Spanish Minister has read the leading article published in The Times of Saturday upon the events that have taken place in the Island of Cuba; and being convinced that the errors which it contains can only proceed from the want of a correct and authentic information, and from the exaggerated accounts of the American newspapers, he takes the liberty of sending to the Editor of The Times an exact report of what has happened in Cuba during the last invasion.

"The following facts are taken from the official documents, and the Spanish Minister in becoming himself responsible for their veracity, sincerely hopes that they may give the Editor of The Times a true idea of

" M. de Isturiz trusts also in the justice of this highly respectable journal, in order to enlighten the public opinion of this country on questions of such magnitude and importance, as nothing can so efficiently serve this desirable end as to present the history of the facts, such as they took place. M de Isturiz thinks it his duty to communicate them to the editor of a journal that, like The Times, has such powerful means of forming and correcting the opinion of one of the greatest nations in the world.

"Before proceeding any further, it is important to record some facts. The attempt at Round Island, and the expedition of Cardenas, had clearly and frankly established the respective positions of the Spanish and American Governments. While the former announced in the most public and solemn manner its determination to apply with the utmost rigor the law of the rights of nations to the invaders of Cuba, the latter, through the proclamation of General Taylor, declared them outlaws, and excluded from all protection. Both Governments did repeatedly warn them that death as pirates should be the consequence of their crime; but this advice, perfectly unnecessary in any other country, was not, unfortunately, listened to in America.

The expedition of Cardenas took place, blood was spilt in that most unjustifiable aggression, and at last the criminals fled. The Spanish Governor, who had in his power the prisoners taken to Contoy, carried his generosity to the extent of imprudence; some of them were acquitted, the others forgiven, not a single victim fell; in fact, it was impossible to carry further the effects of clemency.

"Soon however, were felt the results of such a generous conduct. The sedition of Puerto Principe, the rising in arms of Aguero and his few adherents, stimulated by the expectation of a new expedition from the United States, and the final landing of Lopez and his partisans on the northern coast, soon convinced the Captain-General of Cuba of the fatal effects of former lenity, and of the necessity of the prescriptions of the law being applied with the utmost severity.

"Being therefore decided to act with energy, he received at 3 o'clock in the morning of the 12th, a despatch from the captain of her Majesty's frigate Esperanza, addressed to the Governer of Mariel, advising the approach of a steamer. The Captain-General, calcul ting the direction of the suspected vessel, did not hesitate one instant, and at 7 o'clock that same morning the war steamer Pizarro, under the command of stricken out of the list of the Committee, and the va-cancies filled with the names of notorious Sectional of troops (about 760 men) having in tow a "If, in consequence of Generative Command of the list of the Committee, and the va-cancies filled with the names of notorious Sectional of troops (about 760 men) having in tow a "If, in consequence of Generative Command of the list of the Committee, and the vapanies of troops (about 760 men,) having in tow a and a few soldiers of the regiment el Rey, all of them commanded by General Enna.

The pirates left the village to attack him, but of the 'coming time' in their present tame acquies- the General charged them with his few men and compelled them to re-enter their sheltered positions. He then halted a short distance with his little force, which Atkisson, mrs he had vet to divide by the necessity of transporting Axe, G M and escorting the wounded to Bahia Honda.

"There he remained, without being at all molested, till the 15th, in the morning, when he was reinforced by four companies of infantry and 150 horses, that the Captain-General of Cuba had sent under the command Arm of the colonel chief of the general staff, and on that same day he was also joined by another column of five companies and two mountain pieces under the orders Are of Brigadier General Don Martin Rosales.

"The invaders, who had remained inactive since the encounter on the 13th, contrived to leave the village Bar of Las Posas, and by the latest news from Havana, Blad dated the 17th, at eight o'clock in the morning, it was Boo known that Lopez had with him only 200 men out of Bre the 500 as had at the time he landed. All the others Bry had been killed in the affray at Las Posas or had been Bac shot by the troops or by the country people, who had spontaneously set on their pursuit. "In this number are included the 50 adventurers Bus made prisoners by the crew of the steamer Habanero The following are the circumstances and particulars of Blu the execution:—They had been taken in four boats on the coast of Cuba in Spanish waters. They formed part of the expedition of Lopez, and they were all Bal found armed, with a chief and five officers at their head They arrived at Havana early in the morning Bra of the 16th, and having been found guilty by their Car own evidence and declaration, they were shot at half Car past 11, near the Castle of Atares. More than 20,000 Clif spectators were present at that melancholy scene, and Caldwell, E C raised their vivas for the Queen and for Spain. The Curry, J troops had formed a square, the cavalry and the civic Dickerson, Wm guard being on the sides. The colonel was shot alone, the five officers together, and the other individuals 10 by 19. " Spain has fulfilled the priminary and the most simple of her duties; had she tried again a system of lenity and indulgence, which former experience had already condemned, as imprudent and absurd, she might have been very properly accused of abandoning the cause of universal justice, of abdicating her power, of leaving defenceless the cause of society threatened in Cuba; finally of betraying by her impotence and weakness the sacred duties that Providence has laid upon all Governments. Under similar circumstances what country has ever acted in a different way?

"It is natural and easily understood that mankind will shudder at the blood spilt on the scaffold for political crimes during a civil strife. And yet how many more constant and numerous executions than that of Havana have recently taken place in the presence of all Europe without one single newspaper raising its voice to accuse of cruelty the countries in which they were perpetrated? "But when the victims, whatever degree of pity they excite, are unknown adventurers and mercenary foreigners, " without a God," without a law, without a flag-who, as The Times so sensibly says, are clearly as guilty of piracy, as any felon who ever swung in chains on coast or headland, sailing to attack the possession of a government at peace with their own, and to divide among themselves the plunder of the expedition-can then appear unnatural the application of the law, and can it be considered as a wanton act of cruelty? Were they ignorant of the law? Were they not aware long ago of what sort of punishment awaited them? Did they not act with a perfect knowledge and most deliberately? Or does the cruelty consist in there being 500 invaders instead of 20 or 30 pirates? This would be just a reason why it became more indispensable and necessary to act with all severity; because the greater the number, the greater was the danger, the more atrocious and deliberate the crime, the more imprudent and pernicious the impunity of the pirates. Lenity and generosity would have been in such a case a proof of weakness and impotence, which would have brought swarms of rash adventurers to plunder and destroy the island of Cuba

" And if historical precedents are consulted, where is to be found a more lenient and clement government than that of Spain? The English annals themselves -do they not furnish us with many examples of more numerous and harsher punishments? What has England recently done with the pirates of the Chinese Seas? Can the number of adventurers who were shot in Haminated by the naval forces of Great Britain? And to quality. vet those Chinese pirates went not in search of England within her own possesions; they did not go de- TO NEW YORK. liberately to spill the blood of her soldiers and her subjects, nor to rob them of their property.

"Guided by these principles, Spain is determined to follow the same course. At peace with the Government of the United States, and respecting as she does, all the rights of American subjects, she will treat and punish as pirates those adventurers who may invade her territory without inquiring whence they come from

"If, in consequence of General Enna having divided his forces, the expedition of Lopez has not been schooner with the horses belonging to the staff officers, totally annihilated within twenty-four hours, its ruin was nevertheless imminent and certain, according to the last accounts. Pursued by the Spanish troops in every direction, the 200 men that remained with him were marching on the 16th towards Artemisia, the only road that the well-concerted measures of the Captain General had left open; and in order to meet Lopez there he had already sent a part the garrison of Boston..... 1 " " Virginia Charleston lavana, while three columns that were formerly in Las Posas harrassed him in every direction.

" Being now sure of the issue, the Captain General had ordered the troops commanded by General Enna, and those of Brigadier Rossales, to remain in observation from Mariel to the mouth of the Rio Blanco, while those under the orders of Colonel Elijalor were to return to Pina del Rio with the purpose of opposing any new expedition that might be sent from the United States. The next steamer will most probably bring the news of the total destruction of Lopez and his band, against whom the spirit and feelings of the the market, and the stock in store is, at this time, becountry have shown themselves most decidedly hos- lieved to be about equal to the wants of the community, Nowhere have they found the slightest support or sympathy; on the contrary, wherever they arrived the inhabitants have abandoned their homes and their occupations to join the troops and fight them. "The Spanish Minister has deemed it his duty to submit these observation, and to present an exact narrative of the facts to the editor of the Times, and he sincerely trusts that in his impartiality and sense of materially, and prices have consequently declined to 11 justice, he will bear them in mind, or will have the 111 cents per lb. kindness to give them room in the columns of his well credited and widely circulated paper. "XAVIER A. ISTURIZ."

Baltimore 1 per cent. | Philadelphia 1 per cent. REVIEW OF THE WILMINGTON MARKET, Wilmington Bank Rates of Exchange.

FOR THE WEEK EXDING OCTOBER 2, 1851 BACON-The stock continues fair with gradual receipts. Sales of 2,000 lbs. hams this morning, at 14 cents per lb. BEEF CAPTLE-The market appears to be in better supply than for some time back, and prices are not so readily of tained as formerly. We, however, hear of no falling off in prices. We notice some 30 head that arrived yesterday, but believe they have not yet been disposed of.

COFFEE-At auction on Saturday last, 130 bags Rio Coffee went at 9 cents per lb. on time. though at the same time the stock is by no means heavy. Meal - The receipts have been light. We hear of none at wholesale. It would bring 85 to 90 cents per bushel very LUMBER-We hear only of two rafts of river lumber having been sold this week, which were mixed, and went at $11 50 for flooring, $7 50 for wide boards, and $6 per M. for scantling.

Land—The late receipts have replenished the market very

NAVAL STORES .- The turpentine market has ruled firm, with a slight advance on soft, since our last Thursday's report. Our last week's figures were maintained during Friday and Saturday, with sales of 950 bbls. On Monday there appeared to be a better feeling amongst buyers, when sellers readily obtained an advance of 5 cents, and the market has been firm at the advance ever since. The sales of to-day have reached 254 bbls., at $2 15 per bbl. The sales of the week foot up 2,110 bbls., 950 of which brought $2 10 for soft, and $1 30 for hard—and the balance at $2 15 for soft, and $1 30 for new crop hard, per bbl. of 280 lbs. It will be seen that the receipts have been very light. Rosin-There has not been much doing in this article, though a better spirit seems to exist with buyers, and holders are quite firm at the highest price obtained this week. On Friday last 800 bbls changed hands at 90 cents, and on Tuesday 2,200 do. at 95 cents per bbl for No. 3. We hear of nothing doing in Nos. 1 and 2. Spirits Turpentine-But little appears to have been doing in this article the past week. We hear of only 2 a 300 bbls having changed hands. It was taken at 25 cents, being an advance of one cent per gallon since our last weekly review. To-day holders have been offered 28 cents, but no sales. Market has a decided apward tendency. The stock is said to be light. Tar-Only 170 bbls. have been received, which were sold at $1 60 per bbl. POTATO 8—Sweet potatoes arrive freely, which is an indication of a good crop. The price has lowered, and they are cation of a good crop. The price has lowered, and they are &c. Call and examine the assortment, at SCOTT & BALDWIN'S POTATO S-Sweet potatoes arrive freely, which is an indiing by the single barrel at $3 per bbl.

Pout.ray and Eggs - The market has been poorly supplied during the week, particularly has this been the case relative

SALT-Received coastwise 400 sacks Liverpool ground, which was taken from on shipboard at $1 per sack. STAVES-Only one small lot of staves have been sold, and we believe they are all that has been received. They were white oak barrel, and went off at $15 per M. SHIVELES—About 250,000 common cypress shingles have changed owners during the week, the greater portion of them brought $3 50 per M .; one small lot inferior at $3 25, and 50.000 this morning at $3 75 per M.

Timeer—Sales appear to have been light since our last and the cost will be refunded. weekly report. We note 5 rafts at $7 a $7 50, one at $9, and one quite inferior at $5 per M.

FREIGHTS—In consequence of the arrival of a number of vessels during the week, and the light receipts of produce lately, freights to New York and Philadelphia have gone lown to 25 cents per bbl. on rosin, turpentine and tar, and BALTIMORE, Sept. 30 .- Flour and meal -The market is quite dull. We note sales of 250 bbls. Howard street flour at $3 874. Nothing done in City mills. Rye flour and corn meal unchanged. Grain.—The market is still nearly bare of grain. Sales of red wheat at 72 to 75 cents as to quality, and white at 74 a 78. Corn in demand; sales of Pennsylva nia yellow at 62c. Oats 31 a 34c. Groceries .- The market Higher classes of English Science, including first is steady; no change to notice in prices. At auction to-day, 349 hhds. Muscovado sugar sold at 4 65 to $5 40 per 100 lbs. Muscovado sugar sold at 4 65 to $5 40 per 100 lbs. hhds., and 23 in bbls .- Sun.

Newdern. Sept 29 - Turpentine. Vellow dip $2 25 and Serape $1 40. Tar, $1 25. Corn 45 a 50c. Meal 50c. pils. Bacon hams 12he.

Charleston, Oct. 1-Cotton-There was again a good demand for the article vesterony, the sales having reached ve ry nearly 1000 bales. The transactions were at about the prices current on the proceeding day. The sales were at extremes ranging from 8 to 94.—Courier.

New York, Sept. 30, 6 P. M .- Flour is steady-sales

THAYER'S PATENT BRIDGE. A NEW and valuable treetle Bridge has been patented by Mr. G. W. Thayer, of Massachusetts, which will be found to be an important invention. The amount of strength attained by the structure is spoken of as being wonderful.— The inventor feels confident that no weight which could be placed upon it, could break it down. This consideration, taken together with the economy with which it may be built will render it worthy the attention of all who are interested in the subject. This bridge is adapted peculiarly to Rail-roads as well as county roads, as it can be made of any required span, so as not to obstruct the navigation of streams when rafts or boats might be desired to pass, and can also be built at a very moderate expense.
